CATHERINE CONSTANTINIDES IN 21 ICONS

The current series 21 Icons has featured the fifth icon of its third season: international climate activist, social entrepreneur and food security advocate, Catherine Constantinides.

Inspired by Nelson Mandela, 21 Icons, is a series of short films created by photographer <http://ab165740>, filmmaker <http://www.elle.co.za/redirect> and director Arkon Steirn and features photographic portraits documenting the stories of key figures in South African history. This season has been enlarged to include icons from the country's white shedding the spotlight on youth icons all under the age of 35. <http://ab165740> 3A%2F% 2Fbs.serving% 2News.com%

Constantinides has travelled across the world promoting sustainable community development, social entrepreneurship and food security through Generation Earth, of which she is the co-founder, an international youth leadership initiative that engages students and learners to discuss sustainable development, low carbon futures and resource management specifically in Africa.

Shown above with photographer Gary Van Wyk, Catherine Constantinides talks to him about what it means to be a climate activist, the power she believes education can have to uplift society, and how we should go about preserving our environment.
